This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. "I believe that every student and reader of history, who strives earnestly to conceive for himself what manner of fact and man this or the other vague historical name can have been, will, as the first and directest indication of all, search eagerly for a portrait, for all the reasonable portraits there are; and never rest till he have made out, if possible, what the man's natural face was like. Often I have found a portrait superior in real instruction to half-a-dozen written 'Biographies,' as biographies are written. * * * It has always struck me that historical portrait-galleries far transcend in worth all other kinds of national collections of pictures whatever: that, in fact, they ought to exist (for many reasons of all degrees of weight) in every country, as among the most popular and cherished national possessions."—Extract from a Letter of Thomas Carlyle, addressed to David Laing, of Edinburgh, on the proposed National Exhibition of Scottish Portraits.

[Corrected to September 15, 1892.]

PORTRAITS IN OIL.

AMES, NATHANIEL. Samuel M. Brookes, artist.

Born in Killingly, Conn., April 25, 1761. At the age of seventeen engaged as a soldier of the Revolution, and continued in service, part of the time under Washington, till the close of 1780, and then in privateering until the peace of 1783. Was for forty-five years a Methodist preacher. Moved to Oregon, Dane county, Wis., in 1844, where he died in 1863, over one hundred and two years of age, and the last Revolutionary soldier in the state.

ARNDT, JOHN P. Samuel M. Brookes, artist.

Born in Easton, Pa., Nov., 1780. Went to Mackinaw in 1821, and to Green Bay, Wis., in Nov., 1824; was a member of the Territorial council in 1836–38, and judge of Brown county. Died at Green Bay, June 10, 1861.

ATWOOD, DAVID. James R. Stuart, artist.

Born in Bedford, N. H., Dec. 15, 1815. Removed to Madison, Wis., in 1847. Was editor and publisher of The Madison Express, The Wisconsin Express, and The Wisconsin State Journal—the latter from 1852 till his death. Was quartermaster-general under Governor Farwell; member of the assembly, 1860; assessor of internal revenue, 1862–66; mayor of Madison, 1868; on the death of B. F. Hopkins, was elected member of congress to fill unexpired term; one of the Wisconsin commissioners to the Centennial in Philadelphia, 1876. Died at Madison, Dec. 11, 1889.

BAIRD, HENRY S. Samuel M. Brookes, artist.

Born in Dublin, Ireland, May 16, 1800, and was brought to America when four years of age. Studying law in Pennsylvania and Ohio, migrated first to Mackinaw, and then to Green Bay, Wis., in July, 1824; was president of the first legislative council of the Territory of Wisconsin, 1836; subsequently attorney-general, a member of the first constitutional convention, president of his village board, and mayor of Green Bay, and for many years a vice-president of the State Historical Society. Died April 30, 1875.

BAKER, CHARLES M. James R. Stuart, artist.

Born in New York city, October, 1804. Studied awhile at Middlebury college, Vt., then engaged in teaching, and finally studied law; located in the fall of 1838 in Walworth county, Wis., serving in the Territorial council, 1842–46; member of the first constitutional convention; one of the commissioners to revise and codify the laws of Wisconsin, 1848–49; served a few months as circuit judge in 1856, to fill a vacancy; and during the war as commissioner under Provost Marshal Bean, in the 1st district. Died at Geneva Lake, Feb. 5, 1872.

BARSTOW, WILLIAM A. Samuel M. Brookes, artist.

Born at Plainfield, Conn., Sept. 7, 1813. After residing several years in Cleveland, Ohio, he removed to Wisconsin in 1840, and served in what is now Waukesha county, as supervisor, county commissioner, and postmaster; in 1850-51, as secretary of state; in 1854–55, as governor, and during the War of Secession was colonel of the 3d Wisconsin cavalry. Died at Leavenworth, Kans., Dec. 13, 1865.

BENTLEY, JOHN. Edwin C. Eldridge, artist.

Born in Newtown, Montgomeryshire, Wales, March 23, 1822. Migrated to the United States in 1838; worked in New York state, chiefly as a mason and builder, until 1848, when he came west and settled in Milwaukee, soon becoming a building contractor; the firm of John Bentley & Son has erected a number of prominent public buildings in Wisconsin, among them being the south wings of the Northern Insane Hospital at Oshkosh, the transverse wings of the State Capitol, the Lutheran College at Watertown, the Milwaukee College, and the Deaf and Dumb Institute at Delavan. Mr. Bentley was an assemblyman in 1878–80.

BLACK, JOHN.

Born near the city of Bitsch, German Lorraine, Aug. 16, 1830. Came to the United States in 1846, and in 1857 to Milwaukee; member of the city council, railroad commissioner, member of assembly in 1871, and state senator in 1875–76.

BLACK HAWK. R. M. Sully, artist.

Born in 1767; died Oct. 3, 1838. The original portrait, of which this is an improved replica, was painted by Sully at Fortress Monroe, while Black Hawk was confined there in 1833.

Black Hawk was the leader of "the British band" of Sac Indians, who had long had their home at the junction of the Rock river with the Mississippi. Obliged to move to the west side of the Mississippi in 1831 in accordance with treaty stipulation, Black Hawk re-entered Illinois in the spring of 1832, thus giving rise to an Indian war in which the Sacs were driven up the Rock river and in their flight westward from Lake Koshkonong suffered disastrous defeats at Wisconsin Heights (Prairie du Sac), and at the mouth of the Bad Ax river (near the present village of Victory, Vernon county). The latter engagement closed the Black Hawk war, and the leader, being now captured, was confined for a time at Jefferson Barracks and at Fortress Monroe, being finally placed for safe-keeping in the custody of Keokuk, head chief of the Foxes. For an account of the war, see Wisconsin Historical Collections, vol. XII., pp. 216-265.

BOWMAN, JONATHAN. Conrad Heyd, artist.

Born at Charleston, Montgomery county, N. Y., May 16, 1828. Entered the legal profession in his native state; settled at Delton, Sauk county, Wis., in 1851; in 1852, started the village of Newport, in company with the late Gen. Joseph Bailey, afterwards famous as builder of the Red river dam, in the War of Secession; in 1862. Mr. Bowman moved to Kilbourn City, his present residence; in 1860, alternate in national republican convention; in 1861, assemblyman; 1862-66, state senator; 1864, presidential elector: 1874, assemblyman, again; 1875-79, director of Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway; 1867 to date (1892), president of Kilbourn City bank.

BRACKEN, CHARLES. Samuel M. Brookes, artist.

Born in Pittsburg, Pa., April 6, 1797. Marched in 1814, with the Pittsburg Blues, for the defense of Baltimore; removed to Kentucky in 1819, and engaged in running the Kentucky and Tennessee boundary, and in surveying public lands in Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana; migrated to the lead region, in southwestern Wisconsin, in 1828; served as a lieutenant, and aid and adjutant to Major Henry Dodge, in the Black Hawk war, and fought at the battles of Pekatonica, Wisconsin Heights and Bad Ax; served three sessions in the Territorial legislature, 1839-40, and as a member of the assembly in 1858; attained to the rank of general in the militia. Died at Walnut Grove, La Fayette county, March 16, 1861.

BREAD, DANIEL. Samuel M. Brookes, artist.

Bread was for a long time head-chief of the Wisconsin Oneidas. He was born at Oneida Castle, N. Y., in March, 1800; in battle of Sandy Creek in 1814; visited Wisconsin in 1827, and removed to the Oneida settlement above Green Bay in 1828. Died there, July 21, 1873.

BRIGHAM, EBENEZER. Samuel M. Brookes, artist.

Born in Massachusetts, April 28, 1789. Came to Wisconsin in June, 1827, and became the first permanent settler in what is now Dane county; was a member of the Territorial council from 1836 to 1841, and member of the assembly in 1848. Died in Madison, Sept. 14, 1861.

BROOKES, SAMUEL M. Painted by himself.

Born in England. Arrived in Chicago in 1833, and subsequently spent two years abroad in art studies; he located in Milwaukee as a portrait painter. Over thirty-five portraits in the possession of the State Historical Society were painted by him. Died in California, February, 1892.

BROWN, ROSWELL.

A pioneer settler of Dane county, Wis., who died about 1880.

BRUNSON, ALFRED. J. F. Willoughby, artist.

Born at Danbury, Conn., Feb. 8, 1793. CLARK, GEORGE ROGERS. Copied by Edwards, from Jarvis's portrait.

Born near Monticello, Albemarle county, Va., Nov. 19, 1752. At first a surveyor and farmer, on the upper Ohio river, he participated in Dunmore's campaign in 1774. In 1775, he went to Kentucky and became prominent in political affairs. In 1777, as major of militia, he repelled the Indian attacks on Harrodsburg. Being commissioned by Virginia as commander of an expedition to capture the Illinois country from the British, he rendezvoused a party of frontiersmen near Louisville, Ky., in June, 1778. July 4–5, he surprised and coerced Kaskaskia, and soon Cahokia and Vincennes quietly succumbed to his influence. Hamilton, the British governor of Detroit, made an expedition via the Wabash and Maumee and recaptured Vincennes, Dec. 17. But Clark, then at Kaskaskia, heard of this movement and made a forced march, one of the most difficult and heroic on record, and again took Vincennes, Feb. 25, 1779. He was active in repelling British and Indian attacks throughout the remainder of the War of the Revolution. In 1793 he fell into temporary disgrace on account of yielding to French importunities and engaging in a futile revolution in the Southwest. His capture of the Illinois country was big with fortunate political results, being one of the means by which the Northwest was secured to the United States. Died near Louisville, Ky., Feb. 18, 1818.

He is the author of a Territorial History of Wisconsin, published by the state in 1885.

SWEET, ALANSON. Samuel M. Brookes, artist.

Migrated from Owasco, N. Y., in 1835, to Milwaukee; was a member of the Milwaukee Union for the protection of settlers on the public lands against rapacious speculators, 1836; and a member of the Territorial council in 1836-38. He resided in Kansas for some time after this, but the closing years of his life were spent in Chicago, where he died April 18, 1891.

TANK, NELS OTTO.

Mr. Tank was of Norwegian birth, born 1800. He had been a Moravian missionary in Dutch Guiana, South America, where his first wife died, leaving him an only daughter. He returned to Europe with this daughter in 1849, and for his second wife — she who became his widow — married Miss Van der Meulen, daughter of the Rev. R. J. Van der Meulen, an Amsterdam clergyman of some note. This was in 1850, and Miss Van der Meulen was then forty-seven years of age. After their marriage, they came to America at the head of a colony of Norwegian Moravians, and settled at Fort Howard, Wis., where Mr. Tank purchased for his people a plat of land which he laid out in village lots: the district now comprising the fifth and sixth wards of the city of Fort Howard. A diligent student was Mr. Tank, a fine classical scholar, a devotee of the sciences; spoke fluently six or seven modern European languages; he was the son of a Norwegian nobleman who spared neither pains nor expense in his education. He died in 1864, Mrs. Tank and her step-daughter, a gifted young lady, surviving him. In 1872, the daughter died, Mrs. Tank living until April 1, 1891, when she too died, at Fort Howard, willing to this Society her collection of pictures. (See Proceedings of the Society, for 1891, p. 37.) In 1867, Mrs. Tank had presented to our library nearly 5,000 volumes, for the most part in the Dutch language — possibly the largest collection of Dutch books in America. This portrait of Mr. Tank was painted in Dresden in 1821, when he was twenty-one years of age,— artist unknown.

TAYLOR, STEPHEN. A. B. Rockey, artist.

Born in Pennsylvania, April 2, 1807. He went to Mineral Point, Wis., in 1835, assisting in the United States land office at that place until 1841; two years later he returned to Philadelphia, where he served as city comptroller; when in the Territory of Wisconsin, he aided in developing the mineral resources, and by his pen in making known its geography and antiquities; he long served as one of the honorary vice presidents of the State Historical Society, contributing liberally to its library and its binding fund. He died in Philadelphia, Dec. 8, 1877, leaving a legacy to the Society of one thousand dollars, to be paid on the death of Mrs. Taylor.

Died Oct. 16, 1872.

WILLIAMS, ELEAZER. George Catlin, artist.

The reputed son of a woman of the St. Regis band of the Mohawk Indians, born about 1792. Became an Episcopal missionary to the Oneidas of New York; first came to Wisconsin in 1821 as agent of certain tribes of New York Indians who desired to settle in the valley of the lower Fox; about 1850, he won notoriety by claiming to be the son of the executed Louis XVI. and his queen, Marie Antoinette, and thus heir to the French throne. A popular tradition alleged that the dauphin, then (1792) eight years of age, was at first incarcerated in the tower of the temple in Paris and afterwards secretly sent to America, another child being placed in his stead in the tower and allowed to die there and be buried as the dauphin. Williams's claim to be the real dauphin, reared by Indian foster parents, was preposterous, for the signs of his Indian origin were unmistakable and his history well known to many; nevertheless, there were those who believed his assertions, and commissioners came to America, from Louis Phillipe, to investigate the matter. Louis Phillipe concluded that Williams was the victim of an innocent delusion, but those who knew the missionary well stamped him as a vulgar impostor. Died at Little Kaukauna, Wis., Aug. 28, 1857. Tho portrait was painted about 1833. Full particulars of his career are given in various volumes of the Wisconsin Historical Collections.

WOODMAN, CYRUS. F. W. Vinton, artist.
